Charge Group Theory

- SCA invention – SENA Appendix I
- A charge group is a group of charges of approximately the same size and visual weight that act as a single visual unit
- Most of our style and conflict rules are built around charge groups
- “Core” style devices must be organizable into charge groups

2

Charge Group Theory

- Primary Charge Group
 - Always placed directly on the field
 - Placed in the visual center of the field
 - Usually the largest charge group
 - Not all devices have a primary charge group
 - A central ordinary is (almost) always the primary charge group

3

Charge Group Theory

- Primary Charge Group

- Bend

4

Charge Group Theory

- Primary Charge Group

- Two Bendlets

5

Charge Group Theory

- Primary Charge Group

- A lion

6

Charge Group Theory

- Primary Charge Group

- Three lions

7

Charge Group Theory

- Primary Charge Group

- Semy of lions

8

Charge Group Theory

- Primary Charge Group

- A cross

9

Charge Group Theory

- Primary Charge Group
 - On a divided field with no central charge, the charges on either side of the division are the primary charge group

10

Charge Group Theory

- Primary Charge Group

- A lion and a cross

11

Charge Group Theory

- Primary Charge Group

- A lion and semy of Crosses

12

Charge Group Theory

- Primary Charge Group

- Two crosses and an owl

13

Charge Group Theory

- Primary Charge Group

- An owl

14

Charge Group Theory

- Primary Charge Group
 - A peripheral ordinary (chief, base, bordure, canton, orle, etc.) can never be a primary charge
 - Field-primary armory
 - Armory with no primary charge group is considered to be Field-primary, and has special rules
 - Two possible ways this can happen:
 - No charges at all
 - Peripheral ordinaries only

15

Charge Group Theory

- Secondary Charge Group
 - Always placed directly on the field
 - Generally “surrounds” the primary charge group
 - Cannot have a secondary without a primary group

16

Charge Group Theory

- Secondary Charge Group

- Primary: a chevron
- Secondary: three roundels

17

Charge Group Theory

- Secondary Charge Group – peripheral ordinary

- Primary: a bend
- Secondary: a bordure

18

Charge Group Theory

- Secondary Charge Group – semy

- Primary: a cross

- Secondary: semy of lions

19

Charge Group Theory

- Tertiary Charge Group
 - Placed on another charge, not on the field
 - A single charge may only have one tertiary charge group on it

20

Charge Group Theory

- Tertiary Charge Group - Ok

- Primary: a pale

- Tertiary: three mullets

21

Charge Group Theory

- Tertiary Charge Group - Ok

- Primary: a pale
- Tertiary: a tower between two mullets

22

Charge Group Theory

- Tertiary Charge Group – No

- Primary: a chevron
- Tertiary 1: tower
- Tertiary 2: mullet

23

Charge Group Theory

- Overall Charge Group
 - Crosses the center of the field
 - Placed partially on the field and partially on other charges
 - Underlying charge is the primary charge
 - Can only have one overall charge group in any device
 - In period, the overall charge is almost always a bend
 - Overall charge must be substantially on the field

24

Charge Group Theory

- Overall Charge Group - Ok

- Primary: a lion
- Overall: a bend

25

Charge Group Theory

- Overall Charge Group – “barely” overall - No

- Primary: a pale
- Overall: a mullet

26

Charge Group Theory

- Maintained/Sustained charges
 - “Held” by another charge, usually a primary
 - Maintained charges are much smaller than the primary charge
 - Considered artistic detail
 - Do not count for difference
 - Sustained charges are more than 1/2 of the visual weight of the primary charge, but less than the total visual weight
 - Considered a secondary charge

27

Charge Group Theory

- Maintained/Sustained charges
 - Co-primary charge
 - “Held” charge has equal visual weight to the primary charge
 - Considered part of the primary charge group

28

Charge Group Theory

- Maintained Charge

- Primary: a dragon
- Maintained: a sword

29

Charge Group Theory

- Sustained Charge

- Primary: a dragon
- Sustained secondary: a sword

Armory Rules – Types of Armory

- Individual submitters are allowed six pieces of armory
 - Device
 - Badges
- SCA Branches may register any number of pieces of armory
 - Device
 - Badges

41

Armory Rules – Types of Armory

- Device
 - One device per submitter
 - Becomes “Arms” when granted an AoA
 - Identifies “This is me”
 - Submitted on a shield-shaped form

42

Armory Rules – Types of Armory

- Badge
 - Multiple badges permitted
 - A badge can be an alternate device
 - A badge is used to identify “This is mine”
 - Possessions
 - Household members
 - Retinue
 - Can have a field or be fieldless
 - Submitted on a square-shaped form

43

Armory Rules – Types of Armory

- Armory with a field (A3A1)
 - Field is specified – solid tincture or partitioned
- Fieldless badges (A3A2)
 - Do not have a defined field
 - Can be displayed on any background
 - All charges must touch one another
 - “Cast out of metal” rule

44

Armory Rules – Contrast

- Rule of Tinctures (A3B)
 - Don’t place a metal on a metal or a color on a color
- Good Contrast
 - Metal and color
 - Metal and neutral
 - Color and neutral

45

Armory Rules – Contrast

- Good contrast is required when a charge is placed on a background (A3B4)
 - Identifiability must be maintained

Good Contrast

Poor Contrast

Armory Rules – Contrast

- Divided fields (and charges) (A3B3)
 - Fields divided into two parts
 - Don't need good contrast
 - Can't have the same base tincture

Ok

No

47

Armory Rules – Contrast

- Divided fields (and charges) (A3B3)
 - Fields divided into three parts (per pall)
 - Need good contrast between one part and the other two
 - No two parts can share the same tincture or base tincture

Ok

No

48

Armory Rules – Contrast

- Divided fields (and charges) (A3B3)
 - Fields divided quarterly or per saltire
 - Don't need good contrast
 - Can't have the same base tincture
 - All other field divisions must have good contrast

Ok

No

49

Armory Rules – Charge Groups

- Clarity of charge group (A3D1)
 - Charges must be clearly organized into charge group
 - Blurring the distinction between charge groups is not permitted

Ok

50

Armory Rules – Charge Groups

- Slot Machine (A3D2a)
 - A charge group may not contain more than two types of charges
 - Posture, tincture, etc. don't count

Ok

51

Armory Rules – Charge Groups

- Unity of Posture (A3D2c)
 - Charges in a charge group must be either
 - In identical postures/orientations, or
 - In a period arrangement which includes posture/orientation
 - Crescents are an exception

No

52

Disallowed Elements

- Restricted Charges (A6B1, GoT Table 3)
 - Charges which may not be used by anyone
 - Examples:
 - Red Cross/Crescent (Symbol of the IRC)
 - Crowned Rose (Symbol of England)
 - Swastika/fylfot (Offensive)
 - Etc.

53

Disallowed Elements

- Reserved Charges (A6B2, GoT Table 2)
 - Charges which may only be used by certain submitters
 - Examples:
 - White belt (Reserved for Knights)
 - Laurel wreath (Reserved for Society Branches)
 - Chaplet of roses (Reserved for Princesses)
 - Etc.

54

Disallowed Elements

- Unregisterable Charges (A2B5)
 - Charges which may not be registered as they are not period
 - Generally set by precedent
 - Examples:
 - Garden Rosebud
 - Ribbon
 - Selkie
 - Etc.

55

Disallowed Elements

- Step from Period Practice (SFPP) (A2B4, Appendix G)
 - One SFPP is permitted in a device, two or more are grounds for return
 - Non-European Armorial Elements
 - Islamic
 - Japanese
 - May require an IAP

56

Disallowed Elements

- Step from Period Practice (SFPP) (A2B4, Appendix G)
 - Non-European Plants and Animals
 - Except those used in period heraldry
 - Must be from a part of the world known to period Europeans
 - Interiors of Africa, North America not allowed
 - Northern Asia and Australia not allowed
 - Gray period is of limited use
 - Other charges and motifs listed in Appendix G or by precedent

57

Presumption

- Restricted or Reserved Charges (A6B)
 - Use of a restricted charge is prohibited as presumptive or offensive
 - Use of an un-earned reserved charge is prohibited as presumptive

58

Presumption

- Arms of Pretense or Augmentation (A6C)
 - A single charged escutcheon or charged canton may only be used by a submitter who has been granted an Augmentation of Arms (Augmentation of Honor)

Ok

Presumption

- Marshalling (A6F)
 - Marshalling is the combination of two or more arms into a single design
 - Not registerable in the SCA
 - We are assumed to each earn our own arms

60

Presumption

- Marshalling (A6F)
 - Only occurs on a Per Pale field (dimidiation or impaling) or a Quarterly field
 - Only occurs with a plain line of division

Ok

61

Presumption

- Marshalling (SENA A6F)
 - A single primary charge group over the whole field removes the appearance of marshalling

Ok

62

Presumption

- Combination of Name and Device (A6D)
 - Even if a name and device are independently acceptable, a combination of the two may be presumptuous
 - Examples
 - “York” and a white rose
 - “Lancaster” and a red rose

63

Final Thoughts

- Registerable vs. Authentic
 - A submission must be registerable; it need not be authentic
 - While we can encourage clients to design period-looking armory, we cannot, and should not, force the decision
 - If a client is set on a registerable but not very authentic submission, you should process it!

Final Thoughts

- Customer Service
 - It is our job to help our clients
 - We are here to make registrations happen, not prevent them from happening
 - When consulting, help clients create registerable submissions they like
 - When commenting, look for reasons to allow registration, not prohibit it
 - Heralds want a reputation for being helpful, not obstructionist!
